Dear Hiring Manager,

I am writing to apply for the Frontend Developer position at your company. I have almost 4 years of professional experience in frontend development and a strong academic background with a Master's degree in Computer Science from Pace University, New York. I believe my skills and experience make me a strong fit for this role.

I began my career at Doceree as an intern, where I worked closely with the QA team on testing and fixing bugs. Through my efforts, I was able to improve the application's performance by 25% using techniques like caching, code refactoring, and bug resolution. Because of this contribution, I was offered a full-time position as a Frontend Developer. In this role, I worked with the Angular framework to build dynamic, responsive, and user-friendly applications, while integrating RESTful APIs for smooth data flow.

Later, at Webologix, I worked on data-centric applications where I focused on building graphs and dashboards. This gave me strong experience in ReactJS and also improved my analytical skills. I collaborated with cross-functional teams to ensure seamless integration across the full application.

I am excited about the opportunity to bring my skills in frontend development to your organisation. I am confident that I can contribute to building impactful, scalable, and user-focused applications.

Thank you for considering my application. I look forward to the opportunity to discuss how my background and skills can add value to your company.

Regards,
