Cover Letter

Dear Hiring Manager,

I am writing to apply for the Frontend Developer position at your company. I have almost 6 years of experience in frontend development, along with a Master's degree in Computer Science from Pace University, New York. Over the years, I have gained hands-on experience building web applications, solving technical problems and improving application performance.

I started my career as an intern, working closely with the QA team to test applications, identify bugs and fix issues. My work and dedication helped me earn a full-time position as a Frontend Developer, which was an important step in my career.

Since then, I have worked with React.js, Angular and other frontend technologies, focusing on writing clean, readable, and maintainable code. I Improved application performance by reducing page load times by 30% and increasing test coverage to 95%, resulting in a smoother user experience and fewer bugs. Developed responsive web applications with secure API integrations, real-time features, and AWS deployments while focusing on code quality, maintainability, and overall application reliability.

I enjoy turning designs into responsive interfaces and finding practical solutions to frontend challenges. For me, good development is not just about making things work, it is also about making sure the code is easy to understand, maintain and improve.

One thing I have learned throughout my career is that once you understand the fundamentals and the logic behind programming, learning a new language or framework becomes much easier. I believe the same applies to teamwork and personal growth. Being open to feedback, learning from others, and being willing to step outside your comfort zone can make a real difference.

Looking back, one of my biggest achievements has been the journey from starting as an intern to working independently on an application at Far Focus. It has given me confidence in my abilities and shown me how much I have grown as a developer. I see it as an important milestone, not the end goal. I want to keep learning, take on new challenges, and achieve much more in my career.

I would be glad to bring my experience, willingness to learn, and passion for frontend development to your team. I look forward to the opportunity to discuss how I can contribute to your organization.

Thank you for your time and consideration.

Best regards,

Regards,
Sakshi Singh
Jersey City, NJ
(201) 234-7418
sakshigkp97@gmail.com